Assistant Director in Ministry of Defence cum renowned Interviewer in Drishti IAS, Dr Tanu Jain who was in IIT (ISM) today to deliver the guest talk during the second day of techno managerial fest, Concetto'22 tipped students to manage time and energy effectively to secure success.

Delivering over 75 minutes lecture in Penman Auditorium of the institute from 4 pm onwards she said, "Time and Energy are limited so we need to effectively conserve these two".

She also advised the listeners to stay away from confusion and cited example by saying "when we are relaxing then we should completely relax and do not take unnecessary botheration as we can't effectively take rest then, which is quite crucial to get recharged and work with renewed vigour".

"We should stay from toxic people" said Jain while addressing the gathering comprising of institute Director, Prof Rajiv Shekhar; Deputy Director, Dhiraj Kumar and other faculty members besides large number of students and added that anybody who acts as demotivator should be avoided.

Jain who also answered to the queries of students after her monologue, also advised students to realize their potential on their own and be like mythological character Jambvant for their own instead of waiting for somebody else to act as Jambvant for them.

"We should no take unnecessary pressures of others suggestions and advise because it affects our decision and instead take our decision on our own" said Jain, a 2014 batch IAS officer and added that sometimes many people work under the pressure of family, peers etc to choose career which adversely affects career leading to failures.

She also exhorted the students to develop the hunger to excel and said "Deprivation and Desperation is quite crucial for success as without deprivation the desperation for success may not come"

Earlier during the morning, Diwakar Vaish, Co Founder & CEO OF AgVa Healthcare, which developed Manav Robot also spoke on the same line and said that one must have a dream to achieve something and said "If you can't dream it, you surely can't achieve it."

"Many people do not know what they wanted to become" rued Vaish and further explained that when they first dreamt to develop a cost effective ventilator it seemed as a wild dream but they later achieved the same with sustained effort in record time and became the world's second biggest Ventilator Supplier during the time of Covid.

Meanwhile, all other technical events of the day two of Concetto'22 were held as per the schedule and witnessed participation of large number of students. The three day festival will conclude tomorrow.
