

October 6, 2023

Press Release

Six Week Intensive Training Course on Advances in Mine Surveying Technology concludes in IIT (ISM)

Six week Intensive Training Course on Advances in Mine Surveying Technology conducted by Mining Engineering Department of IIT (ISM) concluded today with the valedictory session held in Golden Jubilee Lecture Theatre of the institute during which Prof JK Pattanayak, Director of IIT (ISM) exhorted the participants to use newly learnt skills and knowledge to expedite the mine surveying work with greater precision and accuracy.

Prof Pattanayak who graced the occasion as chief guest also lauded the Mining Engineering Department of IIT (ISM) for successfully organizing the training program which was the biggest of its kind in terms of participation, as altogether 68 participants from different subsidiaries of CIL participate in the program.

Prof Dheeraj Deputy Director of the institute who is also the Professor in Charge of Mine Surveying Section of Mining Engineering Department of IIT (ISM) who was also present during the occasion gave a summary of the training on different topics like Modern Instruments, Precise Control Surveying, Topographical Surveying, Correlation Survey, Subsidence Surveying, Monitoring of Slopes received during the workshop.

Prof Sagar Pal, Dean Research and Development; Prof DP Mishra, HOD Mining Engineering; Prof VGK Villuri; Prof Soyeb Alam and others who were also present during the occasion threw light on the significance of training received during the course to enhance efficiency of work.

Rajni Singh

Dean (Media & Branding)